Cloud Management Services from CDW

Managing a cloud environment requires a broad and modern set of skills, yet for many organisations the reality of managing a cloud environment is challenging. Relying solely on traditional IT skills and experience will only get you so far and in many cases you are likely to still be managing an existing set of IT infrastructure and services.

One of the key driving forces typically seen in moving to the cloud is to enable your business to focus on its core business activity, so why are you left still managing a cloud service?

Your cloud service is there to underpin and augment your business operation, not to leave you with yet another technology solution to manage whilst attempting recruit and maintain technical expertise. Businesses simply don't want to manage in-house or hosted technology stacks.

What is CloudCare?

CloudCare is a complementary yet essential service aimed at protecting your investment in cloud. Simply put CloudCare makes running a cloud service effective by using our award winning managed services capability combined with our heritage in cloud services.

The service can be used on both new and existing cloud deployments and is designed as a modern and efficient service.

CloudCare is billed monthly with flexible contract terms and is based on the size of your cloud service.

How CloudCare works

CloudCare works by providing a wide range of essential support services for the full life-cycle of your cloud deployment. You simply select a level of service depending on the level of care you require and we take care of the rest.

CloudCare is offered in three levels of service; Basic, Essential and Premium, each offering varying levels of care to suit your needs.

Features include 24/7 support, platform monitoring & management, architectural advisers, change control, risk management, major incident management, service reviews, design assistance, professional services days and vulnerability and penetration testing services.

For a comprehensive overview of the various service levels available please speak with one of our Account Managers who can provide further information.

Why use it?

Managing a cloud environment requires specialist skills no matter which stage of the journey you are on. CloudCare removes the burden associated with managing an ever evolving cloud service and enables you to focus on your core business activities.

CloudCare provides an efficient and transparent approach to managing a cloud environment depending on the level of service you select, be that from operational monitoring through to end-to-end management. By using CloudCare you can be sure that your cloud service is in safe hands.
